When you work on the take-home Matlab problem, keep in mind that it is a graded test and that you are not allowed to work with others on it. To clarify, the following two lists specify what is allowed and what is not allowed:

It is allowed to:

- Use posted material, including previous matlab and homework problems.
- Obtain help from the instructor.
- Share with others the help provided by the instructor.
- Talk with fellow students about general matlab and image processing questions.

It is not allowed to:

- Provide or obtain code that can be used for the matlab problem.
- Provide or obtain help that can directly be translated into code for the matlab problem.